Summer Internships 2012

BCG’s internship programs give students from a range of disciplines the opportunity to learn more about what a career in consulting can offer. Our interns work on real projects and are mentored by BCG consultants, getting the true feel of the BCG experience and the life of a consultant.

All interns are assigned to client projects and given responsibility for particular portions of the work. They participate in case team meetings and interact with client teams, experiencing the day-to-day work of professional consultants. The work offers many opportunities for interaction not only with BCG principals and partners, but also with senior client leaders.

Lasting for two to three months, an internship is an ideal “mutual fit” assessment—as you get to know the consulting business, BCG also gets to know you. Orientation and training sessions aimed at providing additional insight into the consulting profession are offered throughout the internship.
